CTI Medtech Event 2010

The Swiss medical technology sector occupies a leading position worldwide. Partnerships between medical technology companies and R&D institutions result in successful products. The CTI Medtech initiative has been part of the services of the Innovation Promotion Agency CTI since 1997, with more than 200 collaborative projects being supported by CTI in that time. This year's Medtech Event will continue with the successful format of our past events, however, this year there will be more time for communication and networking. We will also be introducing the Medtech Best Poster Award and the Medtech activities of the CTI Startup program as additional highlights.

Program

09:00 Registration & Coffee

09:30 Welcome & Introduction

Walter Steinlin, President of Innovation Promotion Agency CTI
Klara Sekanina, Director of Innovation Promotion Agency CTI

CTI Medtech Awards 2010

Three outstanding CTI Medtech projects chosen by the CTI Medtech expert team will be presented in the morning session. The audience will then vote for the best project from among these "Top 3". The project receiving the most votes will become the winner of the CTI Medtech Award 2010.

This year for the first time, an award for the CTI Medtech Best Poster will be given. A panel consisting of experts from academia, industry, and the communications sector will select the most attractive and stimulating poster presentation at the event. Both awards will be announced directly after the panel discussion (see program below).
